Chief Executive Officer

Sean McCreanor is the CEO and Co-Founder of Assignar. He is a technologist at heart and he is passionate about helping construction implement & leverage technology.

Sean started his career in tech in the late 90s. After starting a specialist IT firm with some colleagues and then successfully exiting that business in 2005, Sean went on to co-found a specialty civil & rail sub-contracting business. After an exhaustive search for a platform that would tackle common operational challenges he saw in his business, Sean began developing Assignar for in-house use in 2014.
